

Sparkling Still Library Thing website

Books listed in Sparkling Still are also listed on this public website:

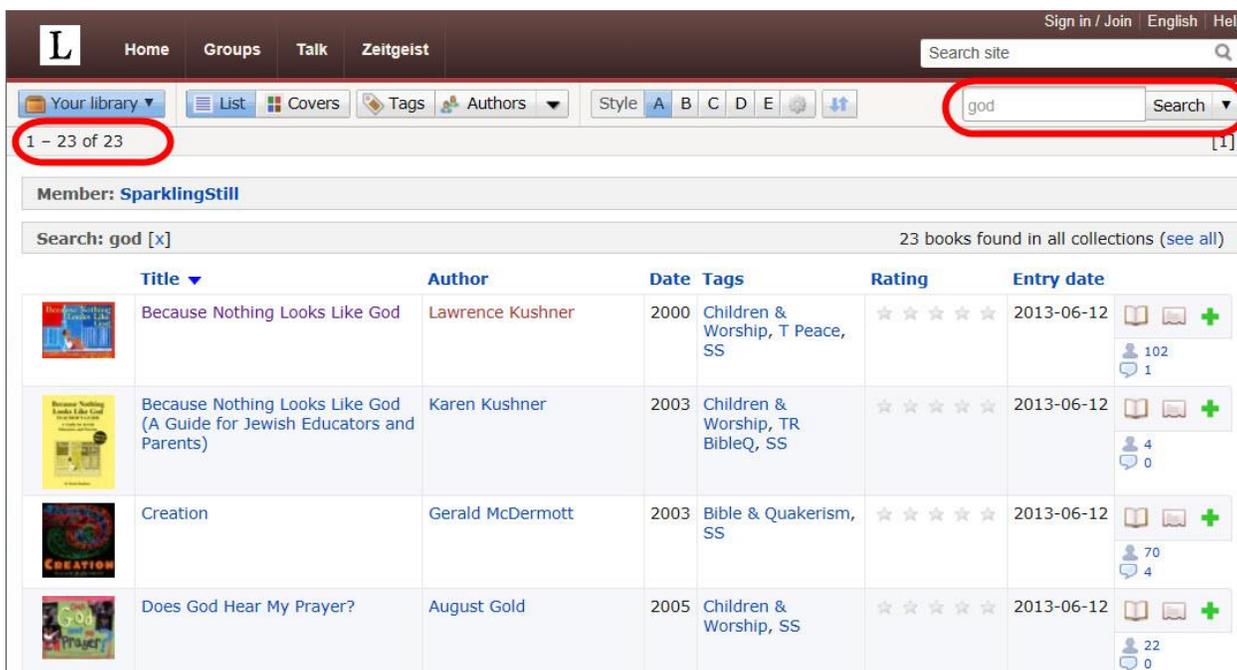

<http://www.librarything.com/catalog/SparklingStill>

When you first open the site you will likely see an alphabetic (by title) listing of the books which you can browse or search within the collection by author, tags or other fields.

The screenshot shows the LibraryThing website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Home, Groups, Talk, and Zeitgeist. A search bar is located in the top right corner. Below the navigation bar, there are tabs for 'Your library', 'List', 'Covers', 'Tags', and 'Authors'. A search bar is also present in the middle of the page, with a red arrow pointing to it. The main content area displays a list of books with columns for Title, Author, Date, Tags, Rating, and Entry date. The first book listed is 'Ain't Nobody a Stranger to Me' by Ann Grifalconi. A dropdown menu is open on the right side of the page, showing search options like 'All fields', 'Titles/authors', 'Tags', 'Reviews', 'Comments', 'Subjects', and 'Most fields'.

The example below shows the result of searching for the word 'God' anywhere in the collection - there are 23 titles in the list.

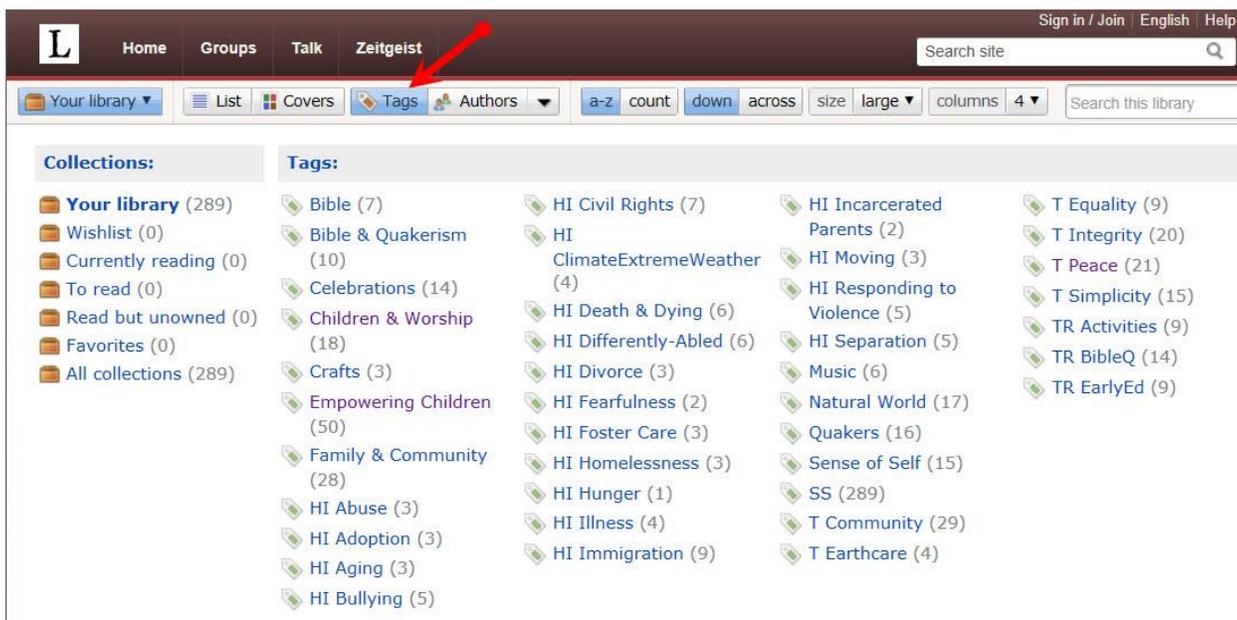

The screenshot shows the LibraryThing website interface with search results for the word 'God'. The search bar at the top right contains the word 'god' and is circled in red. Below the search bar, the text '1 - 23 of 23' is circled in red. The main content area displays a list of books with columns for Title, Author, Date, Tags, Rating, and Entry date. The first book listed is 'Because Nothing Looks Like God' by Lawrence Kushner. The search results are displayed in a table format, and the text 'Search: god [x]' and '23 books found in all collections (see all)' are visible at the top of the results section.

The information in the right hand columns indicates how many other Library Thing users include the title in their collections and what comments and reviews have been entered. If the Sparkling Still Working Group has made a comment about a title, the 'comment bubble' will be filled in as in the example below.

	A Day's Work	Family & Community, T Integrity, HI Immigration, Empowering Children	 307 17
	A Bad Case Of Stripes	HI Fearfulness, Empowering Children	 2,061 121
	A Good Day	Sense of Self, T Community	 409 56

Tags are a very useful way to find books on a topic. We have used tags to identify the various categories of books in Sparkling Still. To bring all of the books on Hard Issues together, we've used the abbreviation HI before listing the special topic. Similarly, we've used a T to identify the Testimonies, and TR to identify Teacher Resources. All of the titles in the original Sparkling Still will also include the tag SS. We intend to add new titles as we find them but these new titles will not have the SS tag. To view the Tags, click the Tags button in the menu bar. To see a list of books tagged with a specific topic, just click the Tag title. The number following the tag indicates how many titles have been tagged with that topic.

The Book Detail page (reached by clicking the torn page icon just to the left of the green plus sign in the far right column of a listing of book titles) will provide additional details about the book including the ISBN to help you locate the book at the library or your favorite bookseller. Since many of the book cover images are pulled from Amazon, there is a link at the right of the book detail page directly to Amazon for ordering if you choose to use them. You may want to check the Quaker Books site at <http://www.quakerbooks.org> to see if it is available from them as well.

Comments	This is a bountiful, joyful, modern creation story. It gratefully raises up the physical world, all plants and all animals, all birds and all insects. The story then moves on to enfold all of language and culture and emotions and relationships. An upbeat refrain punctuates the story, "God created all these and much more, and much more, so much more."
